Patient Testimonial - Jack Stankard Winchester Hospital Radiation Oncology Center (WHROC)

I have been a private investigator for over 40 years. In my profession, one must be well researched with the ability to read people well. When my wife, Jackie and I discovered that I had prostate cancer, I knew I had to apply my professional training to meet this challenge. It was an emotional time for us and we needed the confidence that we were making the right decisions.

My urologist referred me for treatment at the Winchester Hospital Radiation Oncology Center. My friends said, Jack, go to Boston. I decided that I wanted to have the best options and learn what everyone had to say. From the moment we arrived, I was impressed with the state of the art equipment and the warmth and professionalism of the staff. I felt at ease and knew that I would be seen as a person, not a number. The free parking made things so much easier upon our arrival at the center.

Eight weeks was a long time to travel 76 miles round trip during a snowy winter but we felt it was an investment. I had another grandchild on the way and wanted to feel that I had an opportunity to improve my situation. I have finished my treatment and have gained another "family" with people that truly care for my family and me. My latest grandson was born and I feel so blessed. People need to have hope and I am very hopeful about my future.
